PROJECTS

joelklemens.com - React App with AWS Amplify

2021

An ongoing project used for blogs, networking, and resume purposes. Built using React for the frontend, AWS Amplify for API, database, and storage along with a Node.js client for routing contact emails.

FitPoints - Python App

2019

When people of different fitness levels compete against each other it is easy to tell who is the better athlete, however, it is hard to tell who is actually working harder. This app allows users of different fitness levels to compete by receiving points based on their average heart rate during a workout.

Syncronicity - Android App

2018

To-do list android application for organizing a user's lists of task items across multiple devices using firebase.
